

Wycombe set to sign on Ashwin

WYCOMBE Wanderers new find Mick Ashwin may well play his third match for the Blues tomorrow (Saturday), when they travel to the Oval to meet Corinthian Casuals for an Isthmian League match.

Ashwin, centre forward, is at Reading University, and will be going on tour to Belgium with the students in the near future. Wanderers were hoping to sign him on after Tuesday night's hammering of Banbury United, when he scored two fine goals.

The side is unlikely to change much from Tuesday with John Delaney and John Maskell both out with injuries. And if they can repeat their form against Banbury, then Casuals will be in for a tough time.

After a somewhat better start to the season, Casuals are back again at the foot of the table, with only two victories from their 23 games. They have moved from Sandy Lane to the Oval, Surrey's cricket ground, and have no floodlights. Consequently, tomorrow's match kicks off at the earlier time of 2 p.m.
